Electronic Information Workshops Offered by NMSU Library

Several free workshops designed to improve your skills in accessing electronic information resources are being offered this Fall Semester by the NMSU Library. Sessions will be offered on article databases, border and Latin American information, legal research, education research, U.S. government information, and research use of the World Wide Web. Each hands-on workshop requires a basic knowledge of Windows and the ability to use a mouse. All sessions will be held in Room 123 (New Library electronic classroom), and are open to the campus community and the general public. Each workshop will be 1 1/2 hours long. Because space is limited, reservations are required. To reserve a seat, please contact the New Library Reference Desk at 646-5792. Detailed information on the workshops is available on the Library's home page at <http://lib.nmsu.edu/instruction/workshops99.html>. For more information, please contact Susan Beck at 646-6171.
