

Accreditation: The Self-Study Report

New Mexico State University in 3D: Dedicated, Diverse, Dynamic.

The title for the self-study document was chosen because it reflects much of what is unique about NMSU and much about the depth and breadth of the self-study engagement process. NMSU in 3D is the culmination of a focused, yet inclusive, effort that engaged students, faculty, alumni, and other external constituents in candid evaluation and reflection in varied ways.

Through the two-year, self-study process, we:

- Affirmed our university is dedicated to fulfilling its land-grant mission, positively transforming the lives of those we serve and achieving excellence in all we do.
- Recognized diversity as an essential condition to achieving excellence and confirmed our commitment to NMSU as the uniquely diverse institution it is.
- Confirmed our institution is an increasingly dynamic one striving to meet contemporary needs while remaining true to traditional land-grant values, as well as a university becoming more learner-centered and student success-oriented, while maintaining and enhancing our excellence as a research institution.
