

APA CITATION STYLE TIP SHEET

Based on: American Psychological Association. (2010). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, DC: Author.

Important APA style reference list rules:

- Organize references alphabetically by the first word
- Italicize the main title
- Capitalize the first letter of the first word in the title and subtitle (except journal articles)
- Use initials for authors' first and middle names
- Double-space citations, with a hanging indent on all subsequent lines

IN-TEXT REFERENCES (APA 6.11-6.21, 174-179)

Cite the author and the year of publication. Do not cite the page number unless quoting directly.

Example: Gemilli and Jumeaux (1999) compared two hundred sets of identical twins

If a work does not have an author listed, cite the first few words from the entry in the reference list (usually the title) and the year of publication.

Example: New Mexico State University ranked number 25 on Forbes' list of top 100 public Universities in the U.S. ("America's Best", 2009)

Many electronic sources do not have page numbers so use the paragraph number (if available) and precede it with the paragraph symbol or the abbreviation "para."

Example: (Kruschke & Bradley, 1995, ¶ 7)

If paragraph and page numbers are not available, cite the heading and the number of the paragraph that follows it.

Example: (Fishbein, 2001, Method section, para.2)
