JOURNAL ARTICLE SOURCES

Access these databases and others from the Library Web Article Databases pages:

<http://lib.nmsu.edu/article.shtml>

Those listed below provide the best access to SOCIAL WORK research; some databases are specific to a discipline; others cover a wide variety of subjects. The database will often provide access to fulltext articles, or will link to the online journal if the library has a subscription. Each database is different so look for links to “text”, “fulltext”, or “pdf”. Most also have an [article linker] button that searches across all of the library databases to see if another one contains fulltext of the article you need. If no fulltext is found, you can search the library catalog to see if we own a paper copy of the journal. If the library has no access you can request a copy of the article through ILLiad [ILLIAD—Interlibrary Loan/Information Delivery Service, <http://illiad.nmsu.edu/>

Electronic Journals, <http://yw2pn3mr9l.search.serialssolutions.com/>

In addition to the article databases, use the Electronic Journals page to find out if a journal is available online. You can search for the titles of individual journals or browse a list of journals by subject. The links will take you to the homepage of the online journal, or to the database that provides access to the contents of the journal.

The following are the best databases for Social Work research:
